

To Whom It May Concern,

I am pleased to write this letter of recommendation for Alberto Giunta, who worked under my supervision as a Software Engineer at OramaSearch Inc., where I serve as the Founder and CTO. We worked together for approximately one year between 2024 and 2025, during which time Alberto consistently demonstrated exceptional skill, reliability, and a strong sense of ownership.

At OramaSearch, Alberto played a central role in the development of Orama Cloud, a platform designed to manage our cloud infrastructure through a robust and intuitive frontend interface. Working within a complex React and TypeScript codebase, he delivered high-quality features with remarkable speed and precision. Though his primary focus was frontend development, he also contributed to backend and architectural decisions, showing a mature, full-stack perspective.

What impressed me most was Alberto's proactivity and speed. He didn't just execute tasks - he actively sought feedback, embraced tight deadlines, and delivered thoughtful, well-engineered solutions under pressure. His ability to thrive in a high-stakes startup environment was crucial to our success.

In addition to his product work, Alberto also helped maintain our open source repositories at github.com/oramasearch, demonstrating his commitment to quality and community engagement. He is both a strong team player and capable of working independently when needed - a rare and valuable combination.

I would not hesitate to work with Alberto again, and I highly recommend him for any engineering position. He is well-suited for both startup and established environments and would be an asset to any team.

Please feel free to contact me if you'd like to discuss Alberto's qualifications further.

Sincerely,
Michele Riva
Co-Founder & CTO, OramaSearch Inc.
